

MEDIA RELEASE
19.11.21

National Energy Offers Technical Expertise to Suriname

Supporting the Development of a Sustainable Region

On Tuesday 16th November 2021, National Energy welcomed a high-level delegation from Suriname comprising senior Government Ministers and commercial representatives. Attending the meeting at the Company's Couva head office were:

- His Excellency Albert Ramdin, Minister of Foreign Affairs, International Business and International Cooperation, Republic of Suriname
- Hon. David Abiamfofo, Minister of Natural Resources, Republic of Suriname
- Mr. Annand K.E. Jagesar, Managing Director, Staatsolie
- Other business representatives from Suriname's energy and maritime services sector

These discussions were chaired by Mr. Conrad Enill, National Energy's Chairman, who was present to officially welcome the delegation, along with Company President, Dr. Vernon Paltoo.

The areas of focus included potential synergies and avenues for cooperation in the development of the rapidly emerging energy industry in Suriname, and in particular with their State Energy Company, Staatsolie. Further deliberations centred around opportunities to work together to create a sustainable and progressive industrial sector, based on decades of experience and lessons learnt in Trinidad and Tobago.

Photo 1 Caption: From L to R: National Energy Chairman, Mr. Conrad Enill, presents a token to His Excellency Albert Ramdin, Minister of Foreign Affairs, International Business and International Cooperation, Republic of Suriname

Photo 2 Caption: National Energy Chairman, Mr. Conrad Enill, Addresses the Surinamese Delegation at National Energy's Head Office

For more information, contact:

Reay Greaves – Communications Manager

Email: r.greaves@nationalenergy.tt

www.nationalenergy.tt

www.facebook.com/nationalenergytt

www.instagram.com/nationalenergytt

###