National Energy Invites Export Ready Energy Services Companies to Feature at Renowned International Energy Event

Port of Spain – National Energy will lead Trinidad and Tobago’s presence at the prestigious Offshore Technology Conference (OTC), taking place from May 5–8, 2025, in Houston, Texas. As part of its participation, National Energy has secured a featured slot in the exclusive ‘Around the World Series’, providing a high-profile platform to showcase the country’s energy expertise on the global stage.

Scheduled for Tuesday, May 6, the session titled “Trinidad and Tobago: The Nexus of Energy, Experience, and Global Partnerships” will spotlight the nation’s legacy in oil and gas, its energy transition efforts, and its role in international collaboration on energy matters. Trinidad and Tobago is one of only eight countries selected to participate in this year’s series.

The featured event will be supported by a country-dedicated Pavilion, sponsored by National Energy for the second consecutive year. The Pavilion offers export-ready energy services companies an opportunity to promote their capabilities, connect with global stakeholders, and explore new business prospects in the international energy market.

“National Energy has worked diligently with our partners to secure this strategic opportunity with the OTC organisers. It creates invaluable visibility for local energy companies—state and private—to highlight their strengths, establish international connections, and position Trinidad and Tobago as a strong player in the evolving global energy sector,” said Dr. Joseph Khan, Chairman of National Energy. “We encourage all export ready energy services companies to participate in this year’s ‘Around the World’ series.”

Companies interested in featuring at the event are asked to register by March 27, 2025, by submitting their company profile and contact details to energyexport@nationalenergy.tt.
